THE STATE FAIR.

The Opening Today Will See Most Exhibits in Place.

Display Will Be Fine and the Faces the Best Seen for Many Years.

A hurried trip to the fair grounds discloses the fact that everything out there is bustle and confusion, as is usual on the day before the opening of the fair.

Exhibitors are working hard to get their displays in place and in order. Wagon loads and dray loads of goods, wares and merchandise, flowers, grains, vegetables, works of utility and works of art are being unloaded at the pavilion and its annexes.

Restaurants, lunch counters, cigar stands, ice cream stands, etc., are being put in readiness by the owners of concessions, the merry-go-round is ready for business; and there will be no lack of the usual amusements, free and otherwise, of a state fair.

The pavilion will be filled with a display fully equal, if not superior to any that has been seen there before. The art department will contain many new paintings, and other fresh features, including Guy Powers' noted collection of Indian relics, fossils, etc.

The Salem Camera club will have an extensive exhibit of amateur photographic work, and get a free trial bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures dyspepsia. "The public can rely upon it as a master remedy for all disorders arising from imperfect digestion." —J. A. Thomas, M. D., in American Journal of Health, N. Y. Stones Drug Stores.

Among the exhibitors in the pavilion will be Buren & Hamilton, F. A. Wiggins, T. Holzner, Salem Woolen Mills, W. T. Stoltz, Gray Bros., State Insane Asylum, and the Chemawa Indian School, the Salem Flouring Mills, Knox & Murphy, The Wiley B. Allen Co., and the First and Second districts.

The First district makes a great display of its resources, very aristocratically arranged by C. F. Schurman.

Agricultural hall will be filled with wheeled vehicles and agricultural implements.

About half the space will be occupied by E. F. Parkhurst & Co., with a display of Studbecker wagons, buggies, carts, etc., which will lay over anything ever attempted on these grounds.

R. M. Wade & Co., will make an extensive display from their great variety of stock, and Parlen & Orendorf, of Canton, Ill., will be represented with agricultural implements.

Constable Sanderson, of Walla Walla, who has been in La Grande hunting for thieves, who have been operating in Eastern Washington and Oregon, says that undoubtedly there is a regular organization of thieves, who steal in one locality and dispose of the plunder in another. After while they load up with more booty and alternate their plan of operation on each side of the state line.

There is no doubt that the races this year will be the best seen in many years. There are more and better horses from a more widely extended territory, and the entries in nearly every race are more numerous.

The fair will open this evening with a concert by Parson's orchestra, beginning at 8 o'clock, the gates being opened for visitors at 6 p.m.

THE FIRST DAY.

Saturday will be one of the best days of the fair. The program includes:

bass ball at 10 a.m.; balloon ascension and parachute jump at 11:30; races in the afternoon beginning at 1 o'clock; trick bicycling between heats; concert and illustrated songs in the evening.

The funniest race of the fair is expected to be the novelty race which will come off about 1 o'clock, and will be ridden by R. R. passenger agents in costumes advertising their respective roads. There will also be a chariot race between two railroad men.

There are 12 entries in the 2:30 race, and 15 entries in the 2:18 race, and horsemen say that no one can pick the winners.

The Portland train will lay over until 5 p.m., throughout the fair.
